St. Cloud Jollies Score One Of Most Successful Hits Of Season

Far galaxy reigned in the production of the St. Cloud Jollies of 1920 which was presented at the high school auditorium last Friday night. From the rise of the curtain on the first act till the finish at the end of the fifth act, the show was a riot of laughter. It is the general opinion that the Jollies scored the biggest hit of any local show ever produced.

In the first act the scene was the well known "Lair's Bench" and it introduced several well known St. Cloud citizens, their names being so perfect that it would be difficult to distinguish them from the characters they were playing. G. C. Hunter, played by C. L. Wheat, announced that he was going to build a million dollar temple of art in Gallion Gardens, but K. W. Porter, acted by A. B. Payne, sent him one better, and announced that he intended to build a $5,000,000 municipal auditorium and donate it to the city. Both Messrs. Payne and Wheat were very good in their parts. The chief comedy role in the first act, and throughout the play for that matter, was carried by Mrs. M. Purcell Foster in the role of Elizabeth Gosling. She scored a big hit because of her lines going over big. In this act Mayor Levy, played in the hands of L. E. Trickle, appeared to be worried because somebody started the story he had received from President Coolidge about H. A. Tolson, jet and gadolin, major of Poe Horn, jet and gadolin was major all the way. Two veteran chair men were played by Mrs. D. I. Malon and Ethel Hammond; Chief Democrat acted by T. G. Moore and Bill Hildebrandt by Howard Hawley contributed much to the hilarity of the initial act.

The second act featured a session of mayor's court where Dawson Landis and Bob Steinlander were arraigned for shooting craps and Clyde Edwards and L. V. Coleman were tried for selling dogs. Mrs. Louisa B.

Essential being the complaining witness in the latter case, L. T. Paxson was a witness as Mrs. Rosenthal, his every appearance being greeted by gales of laughter. Numerous charges were also preferred against prominent citizens and Mr. Trickle as Judge, and A. J. Geiger, as Colvin Parker, worked to a lot of clever repartee.

From police court the scene was transferred to a joint meeting of the city and county commissioners, being called for the purpose of determining a site for a new court house. Here was introduced Bill Dwyer as Commissioner Ross, V. J. Howell, as Commissioner Purkin, Prof. Zetroner as Commissioner Minor and J. G. Hollis as Commissioner, each giving a fine rendition of their respective parts. Bill Johnson was played acceptably by Wm. Swabridg, while Herbie Harkness was good as Clarence Bailey. Mary Foster portrayed G. F. Millam from Holopaw in fine fashion.

In the fourth act the St. Cloud Chamber of Commerce held an important session and heard all about the municipal plan, the public benefits, the golf course and the community farms. Wm. Hildebrandt appeared as President Landis and Miss Foster acted the part of Vice-President Moore, both doing well.

The fifth and closing act was a gala session of the St. Cloud Board of Health where $1,000,000 was appropriated in three minutes for Mr. Porter's municipal auditorium. Leon D. Lamb was tried for selling a lot in Florat Terrace to a blind soldier. The finale was a female characterization mighty well done by H. A. Wheeler, who acted the role of Mlle. Raucous, a dancer.

The specialties scored a big hit. Mrs. Senekilde sang several solos. Miss Felle Guntler gave a fine Hungarian song and dance and Percie Oliver Lake very effectively presented a negro drama extravaganza entitled "The People's Choice".

A neat sum was realized for the building plant in the tourists club house.

In offering tourists this source of recreation.

St. Cloud is going forward now in a good way in getting this accomplished, and if everybody would join their shoulder to the wheel and cooperate with the Chamber of Commerce every one in St. Cloud will be benefited by it. More complete plans and details will be given in the next issue of the Tribune.

REALTORS DISCUSS MATTERS AROUND LUNCHEON TABLE

Following the fact that several of the active members were absent from the city, a motion of G. C. Hunter, the regular order of business was dispensed with and the matters discussed around the table were of great importance to the immediate future and well as looking to the future of St. Cloud and the fertile country surrounding it.

Some of the encouraging reports of sale of fruit on groves in those proximity to the city were received. G. M. Moses, who owns one of the largest and finest groves in the Narrows, has sold his fruit at a price way up in the thousands. J. M. Young, just out of the city limits of St. Cloud, sold the grapefruit in his large citrus grove for several thousand dollars. John Padgett, whose grove is located at Huckleberry point, got a fine price for his fruit.

This will mean that several carloads from these three groves alone will be shipped from this section.

Dr. Hamilton Holt, Noted Educator, Is Speaker of Day

DR. HAMILTON HOLT, President of the Rollins College, Winter Haven

The day could not have been so ideal for the magnificent, spectacular parade and the successful address by Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins College, which marked the opening of the three days Homecoming Festival sponsored by the American Legion.

Promptly at 10:30 the parade headed by L. E. Trickle, marshal of the day, followed by the life and drum corps, the color guards of the G. A. R., gold-star mothers, members of the American Legion and Auxiliary, Boy Scouts, a long line of members of the G. A. R. post, as well as splendid representation of the W. R. C., Sons of Veterans, Daughters of Veterans, Spanish American War Veterans and Auxiliary, and hundreds of school children, Red Cross, the mayor, the W. C. T. U. and the three wings of the fire department. The parade marched through the downtown section, down South Street to the city park where a large crowd assembled.

L. E. Trickle stepped to the front of the stage saying, "Let us forget all strife and face East where tape are wound." Bertram Crawford gave the tips and Mayor G. C. Outlaw officially opened the program turning over the keys of the city to the American Legion boys for the three days of the festival. Mr. Crawford, commander of the local post, acting as chairman, announced the sale of Mrs. Knauer and presented the speaker of the day, Dr. Hamilton Holt.

In closing Mr. Holt led the audience in singing one verse of "The Star Spangled Banner." Benediction was pronounced by Dr. Earl Kent, past chaplain of the American Legion.

Address of Dr. Holt

Dr. Holt said in part: "Eighty years ago today our country was at its greatest that has been known to history. I was over there in 1915, not in the army, but as a journalist going to the lines. And this morning I will not try to give an address but will try to give the spirit of the young men in 1915 and the old men as I saw them in 1919. The 20th division of New England fought the first fight in Cantigny. I was told that I was the first civilian that climbed the battle of Cantigny."

"In April, '18, when I visited the boys we went about 9 o'clock in the morning to Cantigny. I was over there in 1915, not in the army, but as a journalist going to the lines. And this morning I will not try to give an address but will try to give the spirit of the young men in 1915 and the old men as I saw them in 1919. The 20th division of New England fought the first fight in Cantigny. I was told that I was the first civilian that climbed the battle of Cantigny."

"General Clarence Edwards made his headquarters in an old house near here. We went through the door into the house, and there we saw maps and dispatches over the table, and many maps tacked to the wall. We came in a tall, lanky, general and nearly the first thing he said was, 'I have the best boys in the war.' On me that made a pretty good impression, but I soon found that they all said the same thing. His boys were the ones who fought the first fight in France."

We were within one-half mile of the line which was as far as we could go. The boys came out of cellars, out of attics and everywhere. I was with it a military lesson I was the first civilian to appear in six weeks, and I had on a new mark, and helmet, so no doubt I was something strange to look at. The boys surrounded me out. They were the 20th Division. I have a summer home in Connecticut. I said to them, 'Do any of you boys come from there?' There was no reply but finally one chap said, 'I have an uncle there, when you go back will you call him up and tell him that I am all right.' Then I told the boys that I would write their parents and before I knew it, I had 257 names given to me. Never in my life have I written 257 letters that gave me as much pleasure as those that I wrote for the boys. They showed me a few souvenirs. One gave me a handful of unspiced German shells that he had taken out of the hand of a German soldier. When I took those souvenirs to me and when ex-President William Taft and I went to dinner, I gave him one and he put it in his pocket. 'Home one standing by sold.' It's not exploded and it might go off.' He laughed and said, 'It will go off—just to the circumference if it does.'

"The boys wanted me to take dinner with them and I asked for a good story and the general told this: 'A young lieutenant, Chas. E. Lockhart, graduate of Yale and high school teacher, had command of 20 men. After two days' battle when all were believed to have been killed and we went to investigate we met Lockhart and the first thing he did was to smile and apologize for a two days' growth of beard and his shabby appearance, and told us that still held the trench, that every man, dead or alive, was in his position—not one captured and not one run away—none living as prisoners."

"The conference for the League of Nations was to be held at the Qoa D'Arcy at 1:30 o'clock. I in company with two hundred other journalists, stood in the anteroom and peered out the ropes—that was as near as we could get to the second anteroom. Clemenceau sat in the 7th row, and President Wilson sat in the place of honor at his right side. President Wilson, as chairman and wore of the Covenant, had the honor to read it to the world. He proceeded to read, and his tone was more like that of a director reading the minutes to the stockholders than one presenting such an important message to the world. After reading it he placed it before him on the table and proceeded in his own way to present his views and as his voice rose and fell I—'I feel the two Englishmen next to me tremble with excitement. What he said he put in plain tones and delivered straight from the shoulder. At last a new voice had spoken. I was proud that I was there and that I was an American. When he finished complete silence fell fully half a minute, much more eloquent than loud applause. In (Continued on Page Four)

Motorcade to Holopaw

The Chamber of Commerce, following its annual practice, voted at Wednesday's meeting to visit our neighbors at Holopaw by motorcade on the evening of Friday, November 19. The assembly will form at the Chamber of Commerce Headquarters promptly at 6:30, and the run start at 7 o'clock.

This invitation is extended to every resident of St. Cloud. Please facilitate the work of the committee by immediately notifying the Secretary's office, phone 30, that you will be a guest of Holopaw on this evening, also, if you drive your car how many guests you can carry.

T. G. MOORE,
M. P. FOSTER,
R. S. THOMPSON,
Committee.

Chamber of Commerce Plans Motorcade To Holopaw Nov. 19

When luncheon was ended at the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday there was a splendid attendance of the representative citizens of St. Cloud present. After the usual ceremonies, President Landis announced that Mr. Nelson Graham would favor us with a speaker's solo accompanied by Mrs. Morin and the piano, which was well rendered and heartily applauded.

Vick Hall, of the Narrows Chamber of Commerce, came to pay us a visit and was desirous of having some of the St. Cloud Chamber visit his community meeting. There are many things of mutual interest. He stated that four miles of rock have already been laid on the 16 foot highway leading to Orlando.

The unanimous vote of all present was to have a motorcade to Holopaw to view the new mammoth electrically driven mills. The time for the trip was set for Friday night, Nov. 19th. This means that everyone in St. Cloud who has a car or can make arrangements with someone who has, are invited to go and view one of the largest mills in this country. The committee on arrangements were appointed as follows: T. G. Moore, Mrs. Foster and R. S. Thompson.

Announcement was made of the agricultural conference to be held at Miami Dec. 6-7. County Agent Quinn was present and said we much stress could not be placed on the importance of this conference, as the drainage question would have an important place on the program. This will be one of the subjects for discussion at the next meeting of the Chamber.

Invitation to attend the Chamber of Commerce meeting at Narrows was received and representatives will be appointed at next meeting.

K. W. Porter announced that the Christmas tree fund that was in the long defunct National Bank, a balance of $14.37, is now available and he moved that we have a community Christmas tree, which was unanimously concurred, and a committee consisting of K. W. Porter and City Manager Mitchell was appointed to arrange for the tree.

SEVERAL REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS THIS WEEK

Several sales of real estate have taken place in the last week in St. Cloud. In addition to several individual lot sales, L. A. Wood, owner of the St. Cloud Hotel, purchased the lot of the property west of the Dixie Highway 140 feet and an Massachusetts Avenue 100 feet, which gives him a 100 foot section from New York to Massachusetts along the Dixie, and provides a wonderful location for an additional improvement to the St. Cloud Hotel as the growth of the city warrants.

G. C. Hunter during the past week purchased another lot on Pennsylvania, between the Dixie and 11th St., giving him 100 feet on that street. When asked what he intended to do with it Mr. Hunter stated that at present his plans for improvement there were not completed, but the fact that he had purchased was evident that he contemplated a future use. Mr. Hunter and his associates, already heavy owners of St. Cloud property, perhaps the largest in the city, by the additional to their large holdings here is evidence of their faith in the community. When interviewed regarding this latest purchase at a cost of several thousand dollars Mr. Hunter remarked that the time to purchase property was at a time of least activity that it could be sold if desired when activity was the greatest.

Another purchase during the past week was 200 feet on Massachusetts by A. B. Wigginton. The property lies near the lake front on that street, and will soon be available to those who want to purchase home sites on the first street upon which parking will be started.

HEATING PLANT FUND NEARS COMPLETE

Mrs. Rosenthal who was appointed as chairman of the committee, and the realtors board to provide ways and means of raising funds to purchase a heating plant for the club house in the park and her assistants, Mrs. Mitchell and Miss Krummer, will be able to make a complete report of funds raised by private subscription and the proceeds of the "Jollies of 1920" by next week.

PERSONS' NEW STORE OPENS FRIDAY MORNING

The Persons' Company, Florida's largest chain store organization, announces the opening of their 25th store in this city on Friday morning, under the management of Mr. J. W. Palford, Mr. Palford is reported to be a man of settled and moral habits, and has been connected with the Persons' organization for a long time, coming to St. Cloud as an experienced merchandise man.

The formal opening will take place on Friday morning with a complete stock of new merchandise in all lines. The ladies ready-to-wear department will include New York and Paris latest creations, millinery in all the new fall styles, and women's and children's new fall coats.

A complete line of high grade women's, men's and children's shoes will be carried, and the dry goods line will include staple and domestic silks, Gent's furnishings will also be carried as well as an up-to-date line of notions.

The Persons' slogan of "Quality Merchandise at Guaranteed Low Prices" will be carried out in this branch of the organization as is being done elsewhere, and it is predicted that the St. Cloud store will enjoy a very successful business.

ST. CLOUD APOLLO CLUB ORGANIZED TUESDAY NIGHT

The Chamber of Commerce room was the scene of a most interesting gathering on Tuesday night. The musicians and singers of the city had been invited to participate in the purpose of organizing a community chorus for the purpose of assisting at the band concerts during the season and at various other occasions. There were present many of the leading singers of the city. When the organization was completed it was christened, "The St. Cloud Apollo Club." B. L. Brown, ex-chairman, and Wm. Landis and Mrs. A. E. Corcoran as members of the committee.

The club starts off with 20 members and will, Mr. Henke, leader of the band, as director. This will be one of the leading attractions of the city and a real opportunity for all members of the club.

Children's Home Has Aided 12,476 In Florida In Twenty-Three Years

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—Starting with out a building in this city in 1902, and with contributions as the sole means of financing, amounting to $297 from 155 friends during the first year, the Children's Home Society has grown into a state wide organization receiving the aid and contributions of 100,000 men, women and children from all parts of the state in 1925 and collecting $200,000. This information is contained in a statement issued by Marcus W. Flagg, superintendent of the society for the past 15 years, and now president of the Florida state conference of social workers, and former president of the National Children's Home and Welfare Association.

In the 23 years of its existence up to 1925, the society, which was founded in November, 1902, by Dr. D. W. Comstock, a retired Congregational minister, has placed in homes or given aid to 12,476 children ranging in ages from mere infants to 17 years. During these years a total of $1,586,230 was contributed to the support of the organization. Practically all of the money was sent to the society in response to direct letter appeal, as the society does not have solicitors, as the society started operation with one worker. Fifteen years ago there were three workers and today there are 45 workers in the field, office, receiving home and schools of the organization.

Work of the society is not confined to the actual handling of children and in placing them in homes of good families, but carries its service to the various branches of endeavor in the working for the improvement of conditions that will be of help to all children.

According to Mr. Flagg, most of the state legislation providing for the care and benefit of children in all walks of life was the result of the efforts of the Children's Home Society. Among the laws, which the influence of the society is said to have made possible, are juvenile courts, child labor, compulsory education, mother allowance law, appropriations for the enlargement of the boys' industrial home at Marianna, the girls' school at Ocala, the Florida farm colony for feeble minded and epileptic at Gainesville, and the wife desertion bill.

The first receiving home operated by the society was a little frame dwelling located on Main street in Jacksonville, which was leased to the society for a period of two years by F. Cary Elvoss. In the summer of 1911, the society, which is non-sectarian, purchased its first property, a 12 room home on Riverside a. ne. Additions have been made until today there are seven buildings, including the new receiving home, the baby cottage, open air school and other dormitories.

A 12 acre tract of land recently has been acquired by the society on Post street, on which a new home is to be built on the cottage plan. Construction of the new home is to follow only of the present site. A memorial school will be erected on the new site with funds donated the society.

One of the leading features of the record of the Children's Home Soci-ty, Mr. Flagg stated, is that it has the lowest death rate among children of any children's home, orphanage, or agency in America. Figures show the home has lost only 19 children out of the 12,476 cared for during the past 23 years. The normal death rate among children in the healthiest cities of America is 90 per 1,000. At this rate if the Florida society had lost more than 1,000 children the death rate would have been normal, the superintendent pointed out, but only 19 children were lost out of the more than 12,000, which indicates the care the society's wards are receiving.

In 1921 the society took over the control of the Pearl Egan home in Pensacola and now operates it as the West Florida branch of the society covering nine counties.

Last year the society established a southeastern branch in Miami and the Lions club, aided by other civic bodies, raised $30,000 for a building for the home.

Plans are now being considered for the establishment of a branch home at St. Petersburg.

The first officers of the society were: The Hon. William E. Boggs, president; Doreen U. Fletcher, W. W. Cummer and Dr. R. H. Dean, vice and Arthur Perry, treasurer. Officers presidents; Charles Smith, secretary, today as: Judge William Baker, president; R. V. Covington, treasurer, and Marcus C. Flagg, superintendent.

NEW ENGLAND SOCIETY ELECT NEW OFFICERS

The meeting of the New England society was called to order by President Buttery at 2 o'clock, Monday afternoon, November 8. The singing of one verse of the "Star Spangled Banner" noted the opening. The minutes of the last meeting which was in April, were read and approved.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing term. President Mr. Buttery; first vice-president Mrs. Mary Eppie-Turner; Mrs. Bonedict, chaplain; Mrs. Edith Elliott, secretary; Mr. Lindholm, treasurer; Mrs. Clara Fuller, press correspondent.

Roll Call of States
Maine 10; New Hampshire 1; Vermont 3; Massachusetts 7; Rhode Island 2; Connecticut 4; there were 13 visitors present making a total of 46 for the first meeting.

Mr. Henry Apple, Mr. Danforth and Mr. Peabody having passed away since our last meeting, a committee on resolution was appointed; Mesdames Lindholm, Rhoads and Russ.

The president was appointed a committee of one man to secure club house to hold meetings of the associa-

WHO SO-EVER BIBLE CLASS

The first business meeting and social of the season of the Whosoever Will class of the Baptist Church was held at the church last Thursday evening. There was a large attendance, the friendly Bible class being guests for the evening. President John W. Marray presided and spoke on several matters affecting the work of the class, and there were reports by the secretary, Mrs. Hight, and the treasurer, Mrs. Eckler.

The entertainment program followed, consisting of songs by a ladies' quartette composed of Mrs. Eckler, Mrs. Atchison, Mrs. Hobey and Mrs. Hollenback, with Mrs. Newton at the piano; readings by Miss Leonard and Mr. Gillette; vocal duet by Miss Lee and Miss Owen, with Miss Bacon, accompanist. Mr. Dyke gave a reading expressing the pleasure of the winter visitors at being back in attendance at the class, and there were several stirring numbers by the male quartette, composed of Messrs. Statawinder, Gillette, McMillen and Perry.

Mrs. Vreeland, patriotic instructor of the Woman's Relief Corps, presented a flag to the Philanthropia-Barren class which was accepted by the class leader, Mr. Statawinder. The audience rose and gave a salute to the flag, after which the male quartette sang, "Banner of Beauty," which was rendered with enthusiastic applause.

The company then adjourned to the basement where cocoa and cake were served by a committee of the ladies, and a social hour enjoyed.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas, death has again visited our club removing from our organization our beloved sister, Mrs. Anna Turner,

Therefore resolved that in her death, we have suffered the loss of a kind and loving member, and faithful worker both for our club, the city of St. Cloud and the state of Florida.

Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the St. Cloud Tribune and copy of the paper sent to the bereaved family.

The Unwilling Eavesdropper

For a few weeks after my return my happiness was complete, then, in spite of Mrs. Wright's warning that I should not question Curtiss about the past but just accept the sweetness of the hour, I found myself, several times each day, thinking of his flirtation with Letitia Evans and wondering if he were entirely over his infatuation for the bewitching indolent young girl. The jealous pang I had suffered before I went away began to crowd my mind again and even in the most beautiful moments of tenderness between us, with Curtiss assuring me of his unwavering devotion, the desire to know just what Letitia Evans had meant to him was overwhelming and I realized only too well what the Old Testament writer had endured before he could declare to the world that "jealousy is as cruel as the grave."

Another incident thought had begun to enter my brain with nagging persistency and made me dissatisfied with the attitude Curtiss had adopted of never, in any way, referring to the past. This suited me, as far as my own affairs were concerned, but the fear that etched at my heart was the suspicion that Letitia had perhaps tired of Curtiss first and had put him aside for the new rival.

It was one thing for Curtiss to give up Letitia and another for her to discard him first. True, Mrs. Wright had assured me that she had come by several times and asked him to go out in her car and each time he had refused, but, even so, he might have been played because she was showing marked attention to the other man, whom, it delighted me to hear, had held himself aloof from all the advances she had made.

That afternoon late when Curtiss came in I was overjoyed to find my father with him. His health had been completely restored and he had come on his first visit to our little home. Like all men who have no sons of their own my father had grown very fond of his son-in-law and he and Curtiss were very close.

That they enjoyed their business chats alone I knew perfectly well, so after sitting with them, I asked to be excused. It had been my intention to go to sleep, but as was often the case after an unusually busy day, when I finally got into bed I was too tired for repose. I had spent the afternoon at a bridge party at the Country Club and the incessant chatter of ten tables of players, with the additional effort to concentrate on the cards had left me utterly tense, so rather than lie awake in the dark I decided to turn on the light and finish a new novel by Christopher Morley which I had left off at a most entertaining part.

The book was in the living-room so slipping into a negligee, I went in search of it. The logs still burned softly in the grate and as the light was splendid from the near-by table I stretched myself comfortably on the divan, with its downy cushions, and intended to read. But the warmth and comfort of the room soon soothed me into dreams.

It could not have been long, however, before I was half awake again and heard Curtiss calling my name. I started to answer and then, in my half-conscious condition, realized that he and my father in the next room were continuing their conversation and that Curtiss had not called me, but had merely mentioned my name. His voice came to me, as clearly as if I were in the same room: "I followed your suggestion about Sallie and it worked!" he declared, "but there were times, sir, when I thought I had lost her for good and I wasn't so sure then whether I appreciated your kind advice." Curtiss chuckled to himself. "I can well afford to laugh now, but believe me, sir, that was the worst and most unsatisfactory summer I've ever lived and I wouldn't want to go through it again."

"You held out remarkably well," my father replied, "I thought you would weaken and go after her long ago."

about in a game two can play. I've seen too much of that sort of thing, Curtiss, and I was determined to go to any lengths to protect my precious child!" His voice broke, so that for a few moments I could scarcely catch the words, then he went on again. "Besides, I knew her real happiness was at stake and I placed everything on that one desperate chance to save her from herself! The suggestion must have seemed most extraordinary however, coming from my" dad asked.

"I must admit it was something of a shock," Curtiss said, "especially when the last thing on earth I wanted to do was to make Sallie jealous by entering into your plan. I loved her so much that it seemed an unfair thing to do and then after turning the thing over and over in my mind, I realized that if you, with your tremendous love for her, could suggest such a scheme it was only because you understood her perhaps even better than I and had analyzed the situation from a perspective that it would have been impossible for me, as her husband, to obtain. And so?" Curtiss changed his voice to a lighter tone, I began looking around for the other girl. If the stage had been set for it, things, in the beginning, could not have played better into my hand. Since you do not know the lady in the case I can tell you the details without hurting her reputation which, I assure you, I have no desire to do. She was ideal, I thought, for the part, for her name had been discussed on several occasions with married men prior to this time and I felt that my being seen with her now and then could not get her more talked about than she had in the past. Here's the way I had her figured out. Flirtations and reckless with ultramodern views but otherwise perfectly respectable every sense of the word. Fine old family and regardless of her pranks, the girl was accepted everywhere in town."

"I agree with you," father exclaimed, "you could not have found a more perfect type! Naughty but nice" he laughed.

"But just a minute, sir!" Curtiss interrupted and his voice was serious and low. "So far so good, but there were some angles of the situation that neither you or I had figured out, for just as I had begun to thank the gods for placing the right girl in my path for the harmless flirtation you had outlined in your plan, things began to happen over which I had absolutely no control."

I scarcely breathed. I remained in my uncomfortable position, unable to do anything but listen, with strained nerves to catch their every word.

"Curtiss reveals the reason for his continued affair with Letitia Evans. Read the unexpected development of a stirring situation next week in St. Cloud Tribune."

DECALOGUE OF FLORIDA ISSUED AT REALTY CONVENTION

DAYTONA BEACH, Nov. 4.—The Decalogue of Florida is the name of a booklet presented to the Florida Association of Real Estate Boards in convention here today by Calvin A. Owens at the conclusion of his address to the convention here today.

In attractive pamphlet form, the decalogue bears the following: "When the father of the Florida finished his task; when the far stretch of endless sea coast was carved and the last of the 30,000 fresh water lakes were dotted and the ridges and hills were placed in position, methinks, in my mind's eye, I can see the myriads of song birds nesting in front and branch of palm and pine, and as the golden sun sank into the western sea, the Father with on tablets of stone this Decalogue of purpose for man to read and heed, and lists the following:

- "I. Thou shalt prepare thyself for the happy habitation of man.
- "II. Thou shalt drain thy swamps, bridge thy rivers, and build thy highways in the uttermost parts of thy hinterland.
- "III. Thou shalt mark the way for the tiller of the soil that he may husband and harvest the products of nature for man and beast.
- "IV. Thou shalt prepare the way for rail caravans of commerce to transport the products of thy fertile fields.
- "V. Thou shalt bear thy burdens and build thee ports to weight the cargoes from the oppression of the seven seas.
- "VI. Thou shalt preserve thy golden shores and dedicate thy waters to posterity for its health and pleasure.
- "VII. Thou shalt build thee a homeland of winter for the throngs of mankind whose toll and treasures are of the northland and that peace may abound.
- "VIII. Thou shalt bar thy gate to the dispenser who would defame and defraud thy people and thy household and thy flag.
- "IX. Thou shalt write laws to protect and preserve thy people and their treasure for their use and their disposal.
- "X. Thou shalt build thee schools for culture, and temples for Truth that thy torch of freedom be carried high days without end."

FLASHES OF FLORIDA FACTS

Secretary of State Crawford issued 8,858 notary public commissions from January 6, 1925, to May 30, 1926.

Mass will be 42,000,000 miles distant from the earth on October 27, the nearest it will be to us this year.

Jefferson county, Florida, produced in round figures a million pounds of watermelon seed in 1925, in which it leads the world.

All the world seems to be on wheels to judge from the number of automobiles already on their way to Florida.

County Agent Brown of Volusia county says the "Asparagus fern" is not a true fern but a sport of the edible asparagus.

Archery clubs are being formed in various Florida towns. Shooting with bow and arrow is one of the oldest sports in the world.

Manford, Florida, leads the world in the production of celery, shipping nearly 6,000 cars in 1925, and 885 cars of citrus fruits and 352 cars of lettuce.

The department of grass and forage crops investigations of the Florida State Experiment station, Gainesville, has been enlarged into a department of agronomy.

The Florida State Board of Health has sent out notice that all dealers in soft drinks, ice cream, etc., must use sanitary paper cups and spoons, after November 1.

Ed. D. Sallie, the well known publicity man for Johnny Jones show, died a few days ago in Raleigh, N. C. Jones makes Orlando his winter headquarters.

The Tourist News of St. Petersburg says Mrs. McPherson, the Los Angeles evangelist, held a revival in a field in the Sunshine City four years ago.

Charles Tracy, Shippen, the South Florida naturalist, says there are over 3,000 species of plants growing wild in Florida. Many plants have been brought to our shores by ocean currents.

St. Petersburg is busy on a municipal pier to cost $900,000. The Sunshine City knows how to make it pleasant for tourists. Besides the city needs the pier for its new steamship line to New York.

The College of Pharmacy at Gainesville has undertaken the establishment of a drug plant farm. It is believed that many drugs and perfumes now imported from foreign countries can be produced in Florida.

Mrs. Miriam Byrd, wife of Dr. Hiram Byrd of Bradenton, and well known in Florida, died October 31 and her body was taken out several miles in the hall and consigned to the water. This was her request.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926 Florida led all the states in the percentage of increase in motor cars over the preceding year with 76.2 per cent. The average per cent of increase throughout the United States was 10.8.

The Orange County Chamber of Commerce, of Orlando, by resolution opposes the location in that county of colonies of foreign speaking people. Where they settle in numbers they do not readily adapt themselves to our speech and methods.

The office of motion pictures in the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., has 1,362 reels of films on 213 subjects. These reels are loaned free to county agents and school officers. Write to the department for information.

A White City—Wauchula had 2,688 population by the census of 1925 and is perhaps the only town in Florida of any size without a negro resident.

Automobile Accidents—In 1925 a total of 454 persons were killed by automobiles in Florida, not to include the injured. Dade county lead with 74 dead, then Hillsboro 40, Duval 36, and Palm Beach 40. With 30 per cent more cars in the state in 1925 the number of deaths will be much larger.

Disappearing—The Wauchula Advertiser paints a pathetic story under the title of The Last of His Race, telling just how the Seminole Indians are disappearing. When the Seminoles were removed to the West after the long war of the '30s the government report said that all of the tribe had been removed except 97. Now there are more than 500.

Peanuts—The peanut is an important crop in Florida and other states of the South. The chief outside competition is China, from whence large quantities are annually imported, a total in the last census year of 131 million pounds. The peanut is now put to many uses. The United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., has issued no less than fifteen publications devoted to it.

Pecans—Prof. G. H. Blackman, pecan culturist of the State Experiment Station, says the United States agricultural census of 1925 reports a total of 42,340 acres of pecan trees in Florida, of which 232,536 were bearing and 476,811 not of bearing age. As far as known the pioneer grove in the state was planted about the time of the Mexican war by John Hunt at Bagdad, Santa Rosa county.

Leads in Corn—W. L. Watson, Duval county agent, who measured the corn, 151 5-8 bushels from one acre, produced by William and Charles Sells, who run a 20 acre farm three miles west of Jacksonville, says this leads the state. They won the $250 prize offered by the county commission for the largest yield. These brothers keep forty cows, hundreds of chickens, raise vegetables and have many kinds of fruit trees.

Underground—W. S. Carrier, weather observer at Toledo, Ohio, says one may again live underground and escape bad weather, and automobiles. The science of ventilation has been so developed that clean air can be sent underground and conditions made to suit any and desirable living. He says man lived underground and in caves in early ages, and ruins of underground cities exist in Turkey where the people still live apparently happy and healthy.

A New Sport—Class Keyets, a two sea diver, the other day completed a hike of seven miles across the floor of Hampton Roads from Old Point Comfort to the navy operating base at Norfolk, Va., in less than four hours. It is said that he is coming down to Tarpon Springs, Fla., to stage a contest with the sponge fishermen of that place, who are known to stay several hours under water, searching for sponges on the bottom of the Gulf.

Discontinued—Mail delivery of mails is doing away with a good many county postoffices, and hundreds of them having been put out of service in the last few years. From June 1, 1925, to June 1, 1926, the number discontinued in Florida alone was thirty-nine. In most cases the mail to a discontinued office is sent to the nearest office in use, when the mail delivery route is not known. Very few new postoffices are being established.

The Oyster—This form of food from the sea, with its hard, rough shell, and the soft, flabby body is not a beautiful thing to look at, but it gives us one of the most beautiful and costly things in the world. From oysters we get pearls. Nature works in mysterious ways. There is something worth while in everything if we only look for it. The oyster is an important product of Florida waters with more grounds adapted to its production than any other state in the Union.

Tomatoes—During 1925 this country imported canned tomatoes from Italy to the total of 84,036,720 pounds, or enough to fill a train of 1,400 cars of 60,000 pounds each. The tomato is a native of America and an important Florida crop. The American Farm Bureau Federation has filed a request with the United States Tariff Board for an increase of 50 per cent over the present tariff on tomatoes. The present tariff of 15 per cent ad valorem is not sufficient to offset the cheap labor in Italy where the day's wages, about equal the hour wage here.

Something New—There seems to be no limit to the wonders of nature. Experiments made with a weed found in large quantities in the Sargasso Sea, out in the Atlantic ocean, north-west of Florida, show that it will absorb sound. When dried and spread between cardboard and used on the walls of rooms, it will take up noises from the street rendering them inaudible to occupants. It was the weeds in the Sargasso Sea that convinced Columbus that he was near land, and prevented a meeting among the sailors, who wanted to return to Spain. Otherwise America would have been discovered by somebody else.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

WEEK—NOV. 7th—11th
If your birthday is this week you are stressed and self-confident. You are rather proud, and have a quiet, dignified bearing which gains the confidence and esteem of all who come in contact with you. You are inclined to be domineering and have an indomitable will power.

You have a brilliant intellect, and a very receptive mind. Your foresight is really remarkable, and amounts almost to a prophetic instinct. You are witty and at times sarcastic, but the latter is never cruel. You are faithful, loyal and honorable, and have strong religious tendencies. You are conscientious and have an inflexible love of justice, and are fair in all your dealings.

Men born during these dates are excellent financiers, brokers, lawyers, judges, and bankers. Women become saleswomen, designers, buyers, actresses, teachers and decorators. Robert Louis Stevenson, author, was born November 13th. Dr. Alice B. Stockham, author, was born November 8th.

In some parts of France, the country people, upon the approach of a thunderstorm, adorn their hats with sprays of hawthorn leaves in the belief that, thus protected, they bear a charm against the harmful effects of lightning.

GALION GARDENS

Galion Gardens will be offered next Monday morning at an advance of ten per cent over prices prevailing last April when property was taken off the market.

Continued improvements enhance the value of any property and under restrictions these values are increased. Drive out and see the class of homes being erected in Galion Gardens.

Lots to be offered buyers will be those only to front on streets upon which pavement will soon be laid.

Investigation will convince you that Galion Gardens will be the section where all will want to live upon completion of improvements.

Fine Linens for Thanksgiving

SKILLED linen weavers from far-away countries have sent their treasures to Dickson-Ives.

Glossing damask, forming a perfect background for highly polished silver and sparkling glass, is assembled now. Colorful crash sets for the breakfast nook are displayed.

Surely here is a place for housewives to gather, to enthuse, to see the newer fashions in table linens.

From the Villages

Of Czechs Slovakia are sent sets for the bridge table, for the morning meal's setting. Day sets in linen, in gold or in pink have damask patterns. Imagine finding such sets as modestly priced as $1.25 and the very fine ones at $4.75. Our foreign friends are kind to do such lovely work at such small recompense!

Ireland, Famed for Linens

Sends its wares through the New York importers, John S. Brown. The Shamrock linens imported by these connoisseurs are particularly fine. Sets of napkins and cloth are $12.50 to $20, while in many instances the napkins or cloths may be purchased separately. Homecoming day is usually.

And Central Europe

Has derived some of the swiftest linens of today. Blue sets, gold shaded sets, green ones and lavender too, with hemstitching, are carefully laundered and ready to use.

The Map of Europe

Shows many check marks when the origin of the linens now at Dickson-Ives are checked. The linens ready now with all their romance of tell-tale workers and skilled craftsmen await you.

Plan for Thanksgiving

Homecoming day is the one time when business are most anxious that their tables are best appointed. Plan now for this day, it's not far distant. And a visit to this distinguished collection (without modestly priced) will enchant you.

China sets. Ready in impressive display on the third floor. Sets from Spain, England, from other foreign potteries and America.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH BAZAAR

The Christian Church Bazaar will be held Saturday, Dec. 11th, at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. Pretty and useful gifts, also delicious home-cooked food will be on sale.

Your patronage is cordially solicited. 12-21

ZIMMERMAN'S BIG SALE AT CONN'S STORE ENDS SATURDAY NIGHT, NOV. 13TH

Friday and Saturday, November 12th and 13th are your two days for bargains. They carry a complete line of America's finest merchandise. Your patronage given them is always appreciated not only for these last two days of the big sale but for the future buying. They wish to thank the public at large for their response during this sale, for they made the store a regular "Bee Hive" since this sale began. The last two days of this sale will be the choicest buying days, besides $250.00 in prizes are to be given away absolutely free. These prizes are given for expansion and stimulation "only" as the buyers are getting merchandise for a mere fraction of its worth during the last two days of the sale.

"MIDNIGHT SUN" IS SUPPER MOVIE WITH LA PLANTE

In "The Midnight Sun," Dimitri Buchowetzki, noted Russian director, has produced one of the biggest screen spectacles of the year. It is a Russian story staged in a lavishly setting that rivals even "The Phantom of the Opera" and other great screen successes. It is Universal's Super-Jewel offering for this year and is coming to the Palm Theatre, Monday and Tuesday. In addition to its magnificent sets, Universal spared no expense when it came to casting the players, making of "The Midnight Sun" an all-star production.

Several huge stages were constructed for this picture alone, one of which contained a replica of the famous St. Petersburg Opera. It is one of the most famous theatres in the world and was built under royal orders in the days of the Czar. In this theatre was staged the colorful scenes showing the Imperial Russian Ballet in action. Over a thousand extras and principals took part in these scenes alone. So large was the production that it required not only a special wardrobe staff but a special building in which to house the costumes, and a special research staff to handle furniture, architecture and other details.

The story from which the picture was adapted was famous some years ago in Europe as one of the most dramatic.

made narratives of the old days of the monarchy and of the uprisings of student nihilists, forerunners and first warring of Bolshevism. The year in which the action of the picture takes place is 1913.

The story deals with a girl, member of the Imperial Ballet, who is coveted by two men, one of them a Grand Duke, commander of the military power of Russia; the other a banker, the money monarch of the country; and the girl's love for a young officer of the Grand Duke's staff. The young officer's brother is a nihilist and this complication gives rise to many startling dramatic situations.

The technical details of this picture, such as uniforms, furnishings, court scenes and the military angles were handled almost entirely by Russians so that they are absolutely true to form. Among those who assisted Buchowetzki was Major General Theodore Lodiensky, at one time commander of the Russian Imperial Guard. The production is interesting in that it is the first elaborate attempt in America to make an absolutely foreign picture.

LAURA La Plante is seen as the young premiere ballerina who has charmed her way from the ranks of the ballet to the top. "The Midnight Sun" gives Miss La Plante her first chance as a dramatic actress, the young leading woman having heretofore been seen only as a comedienne.

Fat O'Malley is the Grand Duke, handsome and resplendent in gorgeous and colorful uniforms. Raymond Keane, making his first start as one of the principals in a big production, plays the hero.

BYRNES

HOUSES, LIKE COMMODITIES, COST SO MUCH A CUBIC FOOT

Milk costs so much a quart, butter so much a pound, potatoes so much a peck, and houses so much a square or cubic foot.

As far as costs are concerned, and that is a most important detail about house building for most of us, the question is not "how many rooms," but "how much space?"

Something akin to aeronomy will be needed if we are to produce a thirty-thousand-cubic-foot house out of a twenty-thousand-cubic-foot purse...

The floor area multiplied by the height will give us the cube, and since the story heights in residences of moderate size are fairly constant, it may be easier to visualize the cubic contents in terms of square feet of floor area.

For example, a builder in the Middle West estimates that a two-story, well-built, heated house, with adequate plumbing fixtures, may be constructed for four dollars and a half a square foot of floor area.

In this locality, for various reasons, this price per square foot will not exactly apply. However, you will find some such general method of estimating houses of certain distinct types prevailing among local construction people.

Many of us make a fundamental error in thinking that we can add a foot or two to the dimensions of some otherwise desirable plan without affecting the cost much.

feet larger each way—say 30 feet by 30 feet. Reporting to the pencil for a moment, we find that this apparently slight increase in dimensions has made our area 780 square feet for every floor, and we may reasonably expect that to advance to $7,020, or an increase of over 15 per cent.

These brief examples indicate the need for a thorough study of space requirements, and the necessity of arranging this space to reduce waste areas to a minimum.

If, however, you place the $4.50 quality above everything else, you must be prepared to reduce the area to 475 square feet to keep within the $4,000 appropriation.

The first step in the business of planning a home is to balance the size with the purse. It is not always the architect's fault, nor the builder's fault, that you cannot have your cake and eat it too.

CADILLAC WEEKLY ROAD REPORT

A comparatively small rainfall over Florida and South Georgia during the past week have left highways in a generally good condition although construction work now is under way at many points, according to the Cadillac Weekly Road Report, released at Jacksonville November 7.

The detailed account follows:

- Florida Routes Jacksonville to Miami via St. Augustine and Daytona Beach, 377 miles—Generally fair from Jacksonville to Bunnell although several rough stretches remain. Good from Daytona Beach to Miami but tourists are advised to take the East Dixie highway out of Hollywood as construction work is being done on the other.

Routes North Jacksonville to Atlanta via Waycross, 356 miles—Short detour at Folkston possible; fair on to Atlanta.

Jacksonville to Atlanta via Lake City, 388 miles—Good pavement to Lake City; 12-mile detour between Jasper and Jennings; good on to Atlanta.

Jacksonville to Augusta via Cotton Belt, 254 miles—Paved to Watercross; construction work near Swainsboro which is bad in wet weather; advisable to go via Marion in case of heavy rainfall.

Jacksonville to Savannah via Burnsville, 175 miles—Paved to within few miles of Yulee; rough from there to Burnsville. Several detours because of construction work which are good in dry weather and bad after rainfall.

Jacksonville to Cincinnati via Knoxville, 521 miles—Reported in fair condition entire distance.

Jacksonville to Washington via Columbia and Darham, 640 miles—Generally fair all the way.

Jacksonville to New Orleans via Pensacola and Mobile, 630 miles—Fair to Pensacola with exception of stretch between Lake City and Live Oak; several other places where construction work under progress but all detours reported possible.

Jacksonville to Memphis via Montgomery and Birmingham, 741 miles—Generally good entire distance.

Jacksonville to Hagerstown via Rhoadsboro Valley, 1015 miles—Paved practically all of the way and good.

Jacksonville to Chicago via Dixie highway, 211 miles—Fair entire distance.

AT THE POPULAR THEATRE

The final epic of the American Indian reaches the screen at the Popular Theatre Monday and Tuesday in Paramount's picturization of the Zane Grey story, "The Vanishing American," which features Richard Dix, Dix, Lois Wilson, Noah Beery and Malcolm McGregor.

Here is a picture of indefinable heart-appeal, of glorious action and of eternal romance.

"The Vanishing American," adapted for the screen by Lucien Hubbard and directed by George B. Seitz, treats of a subject near to the hearts of all of us—the passing of the Red Man. There is no part of American history that is more romantic, more interesting, more epochal in quality than the story of the first Americans—the Indians.

The story treats of the subject of the Red Man in his last stand against civilization in the same manner that the crossing of the Western plains was handled by James Cruze in "The Covered Wagon." It is the most important production that has ever been attempted for the screen, made in the same sweeping manner as its former great companion productions, "The Covered Wagon," "North of 36," and "The Thundering Herd."

As a serial in the Ladies Home Journal, "The Vanishing American" was one of the most valuable motion picture properties of the past ten years—and it has been given a production in keeping with its tremendous importance.

Those who have watched the record of Paramount in the production of epics of the Great West, will, after seeing "The Vanishing American," no longer question the ability of that organization to produce the greatest productions of this class to appear upon the screen.

MEETING OF RED CROSS MONDAY AT 4 P. M.

The Red Cross Roll Call last Saturday was all that the committee hoped for and even more. The young ladies from the High school under the direction of Prof. Zettrouer, covered the town speedily and efficiently. By 12 o'clock noon all had reported and there was but the necessary tabulation and checking up to reach the totals.

A meeting of all Red Cross members will be held in the Chamber of Commerce room on Monday, November 15th, at 4 o'clock. Full reports of the Roll Call will be made and the managers for the coming year elected. Everyone giving a dollar or more to the Red Cross should be at this meeting.

PARENT-TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

The meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association held in the auditorium of the High school building was well attended. The program was put on by the Chamber of Commerce.

Much interest is being taken in the contest being put on by the Snow Drift Co. All ladies entering this contest must have their cakes at the park by 10 a. m. Friday. The judging is to be held between 10 and 12 and will be placed on sale immediately after 12 o'clock.

The association expects to derive quite a neat sum, as this is to replenish the treasury.

THE LADIES' READING CIRCLE

The Ladies' Reading Circle met again Monday at the home of Mrs. Cranston and her daughter, Miss Ella, on N. Pennsylvania Avenue. All ladies interested are welcome to attend these very pleasant and helpful gatherings each Monday afternoon.

MRS. JOHN BECKER OF MASON CITY IS DEAD

MASON CITY, Ill., Nov. 2. (Special)—Mrs. John Becker, a long time resident of this community, died here at 8:50 o'clock Monday night. She was born in Spring Lake township, Tazewell county, on September 20, 1836.

About 40 years ago she moved to this vicinity from Spring Lake, and was married to J. P. Becker in Tazewell county on March 3, 1887. Her name before marriage was Rachel Alice Bailey. She was a member of the First Methodist church and the order of the Eastern Star.

Funeral services will be held at the church Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with the Rev. V. H. Van Horn officiating. Madeline chapter of the Eastern Star will be in charge of the church services. Burial will be in the cemetery here.

Surviving besides her husband, are four daughters, Mrs. Lottie Tomlin, Mrs. Bert Shavens, Mrs. George Earl Becker, all of Mason City, and Mrs. Roy List of Virden. These sons, Charles, Arleigh and Henry Becker, all of Mason City, also survive.

Mrs. Becker's death was partly a result of an auto accident which she experienced while returning last April from Florida.

The above news will be read with regret by the many friends of the deceased in St. Cloud, where they have been spending the winters for some years, having built a modern home, the first home on the left just across the railroad on Florida Avenue. In this hour of bereavement Mr. Becker and loved ones have the sympathy of all.

Mrs. Ella J. Colvin-Parker of St. Cloud, Fla., re-elected Vice-President of Florida State W. C. T. U. and State Director of Christian Citizenship, wife of Judge L. M. Parker, daughter of St. Cloud's first Mayor, a most honored resident.

Response to Addresses of Welcome Orlando, October 26, 1926

(By Mrs. L. M. Parker, St. Cloud) We come a white ribbon throng, Mayor Autrey, to your City Beautiful, bringing our message of commendation and pledge you our best efforts in the work of educating the young, arousing the adult, endeavoring to build, for a better future, and doing our part in bringing in His Kingdom. We thank you for your cordial welcome.

In our civic and Christian citizenship work we are joining hands with you, Mr. Lehen, in building a better, greater, more worthwhile Florida, finer and more intelligent inhabitants of county and city. Your message of welcome has heartened us to carry on even though we meet hindrances and discouragements along the way.

"It pays to advertise," it a truism well known, and we as an organization of earnest, honest, consistent Christian women fully realize that we have goods worthy to be advertised. Sir Knight of the Press, we thank you in advance for broadcasting our messages and news stories north, east, south and west—we are glad to be here in your midst.

Miss DeLaney, our aims are one, our duties and privileges the same—training the young for future citizenship and service to God, and home and every land—with you are ready to go fifty-fifty. I most heartily endorse what you have said concerning our youth. Our National President, Ella A. Bogle, also has most gallantly defended the young people of the United States.

Chief Baker we give you our pledge to be good while in your splendid city and will endeavor to keep from accepting too much your hospitality—to be serious we are grateful for your kindly welcome. Thank you.

In the churches welcome we have a part—Christian workers are we, doing in an humble way our part—we pray, we teach, we preach by example and precept.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. B. Atchison, pastor. We are still having additions to our church membership, one more last Sunday, making twenty-one during the last month. The attendance at Sunday school last week was 220. There were 104 present at the Whosoever-Will Bible class. Large congregations were present at both services.

By special request the pastor will preach next Sunday morning upon the subject, "Grieving the Holy Spirit and what it means to the Christian." At the evening service the subject will be, "The Unshakable Ship." The Baptist male quartet will sing a number of negro sacred melodies during the evening service.

As we write these notes the air is quite cool and it may be on Sunday morning but we wish to remind the public that we have installed a nice large furnace in the church that is guaranteed to heat the entire building both up and down stairs, so you need not remain at home if the weather is cool, as we have plenty of wood and will try and keep the building warm all through the winter months.

We wish to invite all of the young people of the church to be sure and be present at 6:30 p. m., for the U. Y. P. U. service, as we have some good news for them. Others also are welcome to the service.

Don't forget the E. nday school at 9:30 a. m. Classes for all ages and strangers will be made welcome. Scripture for the Whosoever-Will Bible class, taught by the pastor, will be the fifteenth chapter of John.

Come and let us study the Bible together.

COMMISSIONER A. F. BASS EXPRESSES APPRECIATION

To the Voters of Osceola County: I wish to express my appreciation for the vote given me in the recent election. While I was not elected, I carried the district where I live by a good majority. I have been county commissioner from the fourth district for the last fourteen years, and to say that I am not pleased of my record is only to say I have given the county my best.

There were many false statements and untruths made and published about the Commissioners for political purposes and I am sorry that such had to be resorted to. In order to defend me. It is a sad plight when the voters of district 4 will let the people of Kissimmee elect their commissioner and this was what they did.

I have no hard feeling towards my successor, but the best of feelings, and will do all in my power to help make the County Government a success. I am a true Democrat to the end, and would rather be defeated and supported by those who supported me, than elected by the "non-partisan" vote. I have worked hard for the entire county, and have no apologies to make.

Again thanking you for your support and assuring the people of Osceola county that I am with them for the best of government.

A. F. BASS.

Christian Temperance Union we feel your welcome as genial as the sunshine—yes, Florida sunshine. Let us cooperate and join forces in furthering all good causes.

REMEMBER

That on Tuesday evening, November 16th the Westminster Aid of the Presbyterian Church will present something different from usual—something well worth hearing and seeing.

Eight tableaux representing the EIGHT AGES OF WOMEN will be given with appropriate songs for each picture. These tableaux are taken from Shakespeare's, "As You Like It" in which he depicts the eight ages of men.

The second part of the program will contain readings, solos, etc. You surely will want to hear Miss Lee play the new organ. Tickets will be on sale at Seymour's Jewelry Store.

ARCHERY

The "United Bowman," the first archery club in the United States, was founded in 1826. After more than a half century of existence, in 1888 the survivors met in a final meeting and ended the organization and gave their records and many fine trophies and prizes to the Historical Society.

Maurice and Will Thompson, two gentlemen from Georgia, have done more to foster the sport of archery in the United States than any other individuals, perhaps because of their participation in the Civil War.

Maurice was wounded in the chest near the close of the war and as soon as he was able to walk he and Will started home, only to find on reaching there that Sherman in his march to the sea had laid their whole plantation in waste.

Will was advised by a doctor, because of throat trouble, to live in the open air. Because of their late belatedness they were denied the use of firearms and so adopted the bow and arrow. They migrated to Florida where they lived for the most part on game killed with their bows.

"Wichery of Archery," a volume by Will Thompson, principally of their exploits in Florida, is one of the most interesting stories ever written.

The National Archery Association was formed in Crawfordsville, Ind., January 22, 1879, and embraced clubs of Chicago, Crawfordsville, Kokomo, Ind., Highland Park, Ill., Leo Moines, Ia., Pittsboro, Buffalo and Los Pinos, Wis.

The first National Tournament was held in Chicago at the American League Baseball Park. There were 50 contestants, 30 ladies and 20 gentlemen. The prizes were more than $1,000 in money and so much merchandise that Will Thompson, who won nearly everything, took it away in two large wagon loads.

Only two tournaments have been held since this first one was held, those of 1917 and 1919, not shot because of the war. The last tournament held at Philadelphia of this year, was no doubt the most successful of all as judged by the number of contestants and spectators.

There is an attempt being made to organize a state association in Florida to be affiliated with the N. A. A., and should this be successful, as is doubt it will be, there will be a state tournament held some time this winter, perhaps in Orlando, or if not there, close enough to St. Cloud that our archers will be able to participate.

For the woman who thinks it is a -fud's and woman's sport, try it. For the boy or girl who thinks it is only a sport for the physically strong, try it.

For any one who is interested in clean sports, where skill is the prime requisite, try it.

If you do you will no doubt become interested with the romance of archery, and perhaps excel to such an extent that in looking back from the pinnacle of the American championship, you will call the time well spent in reading these articles.

Wesley Coppock, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Coppock, was born in Laura, O., on Dec. 13, 1844. He was a veteran of the Civil War, a member of Ohio Regiment no. 86. He was married in Aug., 1867, to Mary Jane Lowery and for over 28 years they have traveled the road together.

The deceased brother became a Christian while a young man, embracing the faith of the Friends, or Quakers, and has always endeavored to live a quiet, consistent Christian life.

WISER REVERIES AS KIWANIS HEAD

LAKELAND, Nov. 4.—After selecting Hollywood by unanimous vote as the next convention city, electing to the offices of district governor, Walter A. Bollinger of West Palm Beach and then choosing the five district governors, the eighth annual convention of Kiwanis clubs of Florida adjourned late Tuesday afternoon to go out to Cleveland Heights clubhouse for the concluding general dinner, at which the final committee reports were received and awards made of the attendance cup.

Hollywood, not content with winning the 1927 meeting, also captured the big prize with a total of 7,572 points over Euclid with every member present and a score of 5,568 and Ocala third, with 5,371, all resorting 100 per cent. Euclid was given a special cup for having performed the feat twice in succession.

Mrs. Helenberg of Pensacola was elected governor of the West Florida district, Ose P. Goods of St. Augustine for north Florida, Ed Lane of Sanford for middle Florida, Clarence Eldridge of Miami for southeast Florida and G. L. Hillier of Lakeland for southwest Florida.

WIDENED POWERS

A dispute which had its beginning in the First Congress is settled by the Supreme Court's decision giving the President the exclusive right to remove executive officers.

The case came before the Supreme Court when an Oregon postmaster removed by President Wilson sued for back pay.

By its decision the Supreme Court renders invalid the law of 1875 denying the President the unrestricted power of removal of first, second and third class Postmasters.

The law of 1875 provided that "Postmasters of the first, second and third classes shall be appointed and may be removed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the President."

It was passed, as the majority opinion points out, during a "heated political difference between the then President and the majority leaders of Congress over the reconstruction measures adopted as a means of restoring to their proper status the States which withdrew from the Union at the time of the Civil War."

This decision greatly widens the powers of the President. Whether it will render more insecure the tenure of efficient postmasters who happen to be of different political faith from the administration is something that must show.

It would be sad for the country if it should revert to the days of "turning the rascals out." But probably no administration would care to go that far. The long struggle for Civil Service reform remains as an object lesson.

COMMUNITY WORK BY LEGION IS BIG 1927 OBJECTIVE

PHILADELPHIA, October 30.—Declaring there must be no swerving from the aims and purposes of The American Legion of the past, the eighth annual convention here October 11-15, besides voting to go to France in 1927, set as the outstanding task of the coming year shall be community betterment.

"Each and every post of the more than 11,000 posts of The American Legion, shall dedicate itself to accomplish that undertaking which shall, in its judgment after careful consideration, most advance the welfare of the community in which it exists," the resolution reads.

In adopting the resolution, the Legion expressed the hope that it may exemplify the ideal of the organization expressed in the preamble to the constitution of service to community, state and nation.

The particular form of neighborly helpfulness will be left entirely to the individual posts, whether it concern itself with some civic undertaking or improvement deemed locally necessary or advisable—with the training, development and education of the youth of the community along general or special lines—with contributing to the well being of its children, either generally or of particular classes especially needing aid—with the awakening of its citizens to a higher sense of obligation and duty—with greater observance of law and order with the stimulation of the making of better homes for the exemplification of true American family life or whatsoever the post deems most worthy.

A resolution was adopted calling upon the United States Census Bureau to insert in the census blanks to be used in 1930, appropriate questions to bring out information as to the number and location of all ex-servicemen, and that a compilation of the names and addresses be made public, as a measure of national defense.

The convention declared minimum requirements for national defense to be a regular army of 1,200,000 enlisted men in addition to the recently authorized increase in the air corps; a national guard of 190,000 to be increased to 250,000 by 1930; the training of all field, line and staff officers of the reserve corps, together with the enlisted personnel of the organized reserves for a period of 15 days every three years; a reserve officers' training corps adequate to provide 5,000 reserve officers annually; a citizens' military training camp of 50,000 men; and the provision of adequate equipment and appropriations to carry out such a program.

A continuation of the Legion's efforts to aid in "getting out the vote" was adopted.

The junior world series baseball program was endorsed and appropriations ordered in the 1927 budget to take care of further development of the movement.

The Legion pledged itself to do all in its power to secure an appropriation adequate for the efficient enforcement of the immigration laws which are now threatened due to the meagre appropriation allowed the Bureau of Immigration.

The convention repledged itself to work for the early passage of a bill providing for the care of disabled emergency officers for which the Legion has been working four years.

MONTHLY REPORT OF THE SCHOOL NURSE

Every school in the eastern half of the county, except Ilahaw, has health posters, charts and program up and in use; fifteen is given in class rooms every day in this work, with constant stress on formation of daily health habits, which when formed in childhood are easily kept in manhood, in fact they are then kept without the slightest effort.

Schools visited this month, four white and one colored. Some visited three times a week, others every two weeks. Weighed and measured three hundred eighty seven.

Individual inspection of 418 children of primary grades showed effects as follows: Anemia 35, skin disease (not infections) 16, hookworm 35, conjunctivitis 18, vision rather serious 8, teeth 115, enlarged tonsils 28, nasal breathing 12, as much as 10 per cent underweight 10, overweight 5. Many corrections were made last year. We hope to see all these and more corrected this year. Sixteen children are taking hookworm treatment which consists of three doses of carbon tetrachloride one week apart. The worst part of the treatment is the dose of salts before and after the capsules. This taken on Saturday does not interfere with school work. There has been 48 stool specimens collected this month. Ten of 14 reports received from the State Board on these specimens are positive. You can readily appreciate the great need for advancement along this line, which means treatment of individual cases and installing of sanitary toilets throughout the county and the state. Then and not until then can we hope to eliminate this condition.

I have made 25 home visits, given 8 sponge baths, approximately number hours spent in office, 28. Individual conferences with mothers 12, teachers 35, persons interested in this work 40. Clothes given to six needy persons from office supply. Discarded clothes or clean clothes are gladly accepted at my office.

BERTIE LEE HUNTER.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Four G. Hyndman, D. D., minister.

Our slogan: "A Friendly Church in a Friendly City."

The services last Sunday were full of interest and inspiration. The church was well filled on both occasions. Mrs. Kanavel was the soloist for the morning service, rendering, "I Come to Thee," as the Communion solo. A group of new members were received into fellowship with the church by letter and on confession of faith. In the evening the musical numbers included a solo by Miss Knowlton, a quartet by Mrs. Kanavel, Mrs. Morris, Mr. C. Steen and Mr. Bennett, and an anthem by the choir. The pastor preached on the "Cities of Refuge."

Next Sunday morning Mrs. Kanavel and Miss Klassen will sing a duet. In the evening there will be selections in the Male Voice Quartet.

The special Bible service announced for next Sunday has been postponed for a week. A large number of old Bibles and song books has already been brought in. Any person having an old Bible or early edition of a songbook is invited to bring it along. The books will be placed on exhibition for Sunday, Nov. 21.

If you have an interesting story to tell about your Bible or song book, you may relate it at the mid-week service next Wednesday.

The Ladies Aid Society is planning a Bazaar for December.

At the Sunday School Board meeting this week Mrs. Diefendorf, Mrs. Hildingsworth and Mrs. Sage were appointed as committee to arrange the Sunday school program for Christmas.

FLORIDA FARMING PAYS

One of the best possible ways to keep the boys "down on the farm" would be to ship them to a Florida farm. These figures show that farming pays better, per acre, in this state than in any other commonwealth in the nation.

That the reader may be acquainted with the comparative cash-production of Florida farms, as compared with other farms in other states, the figures, in full, are reproduced below:

Table with 2 columns: State and Val. Per Acre $1927. Lists states from Florida to Missouri with their respective values per acre.

AMERICAN ONE BIG COMMUNITY

Misfortune makes the whole world kin. The suffering occasioned by the loss of life and destruction of property in the storm that swept across an area in the southeastern portion of the United States brings not only its full measure of sympathy, but a whole nation stretches forth its hands to relieve and offer encouragement to stricken homes and hearts.

There is no North or South, no East or West to the whims of Nature, logically called "the acts of God." All humanity recognizes the mightiness of the elements to strike at will, and knows that the fury of the hurricanes, flood, tidal wave or earthquake is no respecter of sections of the country or of the earth's surface. All must sooner or later bow to the inevitable; or, failing that, must share their burdens and give assistance to those whose misfortunes from natural causes are equivalent to the wreckage stipulated by the weakening of the human element.

What hurts one part of America hurts all. This has been America's loss; not alone the stricken area's. Arbitrary and official lines do not separate human relationship. No boundary lines drawn by man can alienate the interests of one part of America from those of another. Commerce flows freely, and economic losses impair the national wealth. Love, companionship and national pride are intangible elements of life and though human losses cannot be compensated for, they can be atoned in the courage to carry on.

And they will rebuild! The glory that was theirs will be reflected in new-born development. Ambition is sustaining. Out of the suffering will be this spirit which can not die. It is this spirit—American determination—that will send its monitors of strength, sustenance and hope to regain its losses. For every part of America is vital to the whole. Its life blood flows to its uttermost corners. America is one big community; and as such it must look to the necessities, share the burdens and accept the fortunes of every part.—Foughtkeeper (N. Y.) Courier.

A missionary paper published at Kwanaju, Korea, printed the following bit of news not long ago: "The largest factory in the world producing baby carriages is located at Detroit and is owned by a man named Ford."

It is said the road tax exceeds all others in Georgia. Yes, there is some complaint about bad roads up there.

FLORIDA PREPARES FOR HIGHWAY BUILDING PROGRAM

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 8.—Florida is preparing to conduct an extensive road building program this winter, if the announcement of Mr. Tom A. Hatcher, chairman of the State Road Department, regarding contracts to be awarded on proposed highway work, is indicative of present plans.

Dr. Hatcher stated that not only would bids be opened on November 3 calling for contracts for approximately $1,000,000 worth of road construction work, but that advertisements have been promulgated for another $2,000,000 worth, constituting one of the largest single lettings in the department's history.

NASSAU, St. Johns, Duval, Madison, Alachua, Hardee, Columbia, Martin, Brevard, Leon, Lake, Citrus, Levy and Indian River counties are to get the benefits of the immediate programs, with three projects to be carried out in Levy, and two each in Columbia and Martin counties.

The projects for which contracts are to be awarded upon consideration of the bids to be opened November 3 are the following:

No. 582, 1.87 miles, Lake County; 677-B, 11.59 miles, Levy; 691, 5.82 miles, Indian River; 692, 1.28 miles, St. Johns; 678-A, 9.95 miles, Levy; and 678-B, 14.29 miles, Levy County.

The work for which advertisements for bids have been ordered consists of 30 miles of hard surfacing; 24 miles of rock base, construction; and 28 miles of clearing, grubbing and grading as a total of 112 miles of road in the proposed letting.

ORGAN INSTALLED IN PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Many familiar faces are seen these days in church which we have missed for awhile. Most appear refreshed and stronger for their visit north. To these and the new ones who are appearing for their first time in the new church home we extend a most hearty welcome.

The Illianer Organ Company, of Pekin, Illinois, has completed their contract to install a two manual pipe organ in this church. The company has given us an honest job and a sweet toned and very satisfactory instrument is the result. We expect this to add much to our service of song and worship.

The often repeated sentiment of friends outside the church that we should have an organ for which they would be glad to contribute, brought a request for a committee to test the matter. Mrs. C. A. Dawley and Mrs. Grace Light were appointed and it is due to their faithful and untiring efforts that the organ has been installed while we were just completing our church building. Unexpectedly the installation was completed Saturday and we had the surprise for the choir and congregation of its use in last Sunday's services.

Next Sunday morning the usual worship and sermon, Sunday night we shall have service of song and music followed by a stereopticon lecture entitled, "The Monarch of Mohammedanism." Beautiful colored slides of Mohammedan life and customs will be used in presenting this lecture.

Tuesday, November 16th, 7:30 p. m. the ladies and children of the church will present a program of song, reading and action, entitled, "Eight Ages of Woman." This is said to be a very appealing and beautiful little drama of life presented by a well chosen cast.

The Synod of Florida of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., convenes November 10-12, in the Presbyterian church at Kestle, Florida. The Presbytery of Southwest Florida will have brief meetings at the same time and place to transact necessary business.

The pastor, Rev. James A. Callan, and Ruling Elder, S. G. McDonald will represent the St. Cloud congregation at these meetings.

LADIES' IMPROVEMENT CLUB

Owing to the inclemency of the weather Wednesday, the crowd at the Ladies' Improvement Club was small. Mrs. Nettie Severn, second vice-president, presided over the meeting, and after all business was disposed with Mrs. Sarah Norris brought the subject before the club of turning the library building over to the city. This will be the subject for discussion at the next meeting, which will be held Nov. 17. This is of sufficient importance to assure a full attendance.

TOURIST CLUB MEETING

The Tourist Club will meet in Tourist building on Monday, Nov. 15, at 2:30 p. m. A short program will be given and arrangements made concerning future meetings. Shall we have a Thanksgiving picnic dinner? What say? Let everybody, tourists and citizens, come. No "Charleston," but a jolly good time. Further will check articles and memoranda at the doors. No one from Chicago will be admitted unless accompanied by a policeman. Children will be safely taken care of. No collection.

A. W. Hall, president.

WILDER MUSIC STORE OPENED HERE TUESDAY

The grand opening of the new branch of the Wilder Music Store on Tuesday night proved to be a most attractive affair in the business and social life of St. Cloud. The new store had been prettily decorated in a variety of colors. A profusion of American Beauty and Red Radiance roses was in evidence. The instruments on display included the most recent productions in the musical line. Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Kanavel, the local managers of the new store, acted as host and hostess for the occasion.

From the time of opening until a late hour the spacious room was well filled, while a large number of people also filled the sidewalks.

As part of the program Miss Ethel Owens of Kissimmee gave a beautiful piano solo entitled, "Nobility Elegance," and Mrs. Kanavel, in a very delightful manner, sang "My Rose in the Garden of Love."

TO THE VOTERS OF OSCOLA COUNTY

Those of you who voted for me in the General Election, I wish to thank you for your vote and the support given me, and for the confidence you placed in me. To those of you who do not know me, I wish to say that I am twenty-five years old. I have lived in Oscola County ever since it was created, and while it was yet a part of Orange County. During that time I have represented Oscola County as a Member of the Legislature, as Tax Collector for four years, and as County Commissioner for a great number of years.

An investigation will show that during this time there has never been a complaint filed against me for any offense in any Court of this State, or of any United States. Now, since the Election is over, I do not hesitate to say that all the charges made that accused that I, as a member of the Board of County Commissioners, or as an individual, had been engaged in any dealings, are absolutely unfounded and untrue.

I wish to assure you that I appreciate the vote and support you gave me just as much as if I had been elected, and want to assure my successful opponent, while he is successful in the Election, that I will continue to be successful in the future. I am interested in Oscola County and am ready to work at all times for its future development, and after I sever my connection as one of your Commissioners on January third, A. D. 1927, I can be of further service. For I shall be glad to have you call upon me. I shall be glad to have you call upon me.

E. L. D. OVERTHREY

TO THE PEOPLE OF OSCOLA COUNTY

I wish first to thank the people who voted for the Democratic nominees in the General Election and for the support they gave me.

There was considerable attack made upon me through the press, and by individuals, and to those who did not vote for the Democratic nominees, I trust that your vote against them was not caused by any act of mine, or by any prejudice against me.

I have acted as Attorney for the Board of County Commissioners in this County for the past several years, and I am satisfied that when I state the successful candidates in the Election were those who lost, I know I will not be contradicted. The office of County Commissioner is a thankless job; the Commissioners are called for what they do, and for what they don't do; every voter has his own pet theory about it, and in the summer in which everything should be done.

I therefore hope that the newly elected officers will not become discouraged when they are severely criticized, and many things are said about them by those who have just cast their votes for them, and I wish to assure the newly elected Board of County Commissioners, and all of the people in the County, that I personally, and all of the members of the Board who were defeated in the said Election, expect to make Oscola County our future home and we stand ready to work with you in anything that will tend to improve the District in which we live, and Oscola County in general.

"Melancholy Days" of Other Sections Missing in Florida; Sunshine Galore

The following article on weather conditions in Florida during the autumn season was written expressly for The Tampa Tribune by W. J. Bennett, Meteorologist in charge of the Tampa weather bureau. Mr. Bennett has been a resident of Tampa for many years and has made a careful study of climatic conditions of the southwest section of Florida. During the recent hurricane that swept across the state, the bureau issued bulletins from time to time telling of the path of the tropical disturbance with a great degree of accuracy.

By WALTER J. BENNETT

All weather is good weather in Florida, and all seasons good seasons. Each as it comes, is welcome for its peculiar charms, and each has many advocates to proclaim it the very best season of the year.

The "season of summer showers" is now passing. Since June 1, the temperature has rarely dropped below 70, and has never risen higher than 94, nearly four months with an extreme range of only about five degrees. This is certainly equable weather and many of us think the summer season is the best, with the light clear mornings, the majestic cumulus clouds of the afternoons, the refreshing thunder-showers, and the soft tropical nights. Another good thing about summer is that nobody expects you to work quite so hard in that season. There is some excuse for closing up the office early and go for a trip to the beach or fresh water lake, for swimming or fishing.

Even the best loved friends may wear their welcome out by staying too long. Nobody can object to Florida weather on account of the heat. The highest temperature we have ever recorded here was only 97 1/2 degrees, but some do object to the summers on account of their length, and we are all ready to welcome the autumn when it comes.

When does it come? Well, that is a debatable question. The astronomical autumn begins with the autumnal equinox, when the sun crosses the equator going south, and the nights, increasing in length, become equal to the days. This year the equinox came September 23, but up north, September is considered an autumn month, while in Florida we count it as the last month of summer, and consider that autumn begins about October 1.

No Abrupt Ending

Summer does not end abruptly—some autumn days appear in the latter part of September—and some days even late in October. From year to year there is considerable variation, amounting to at least two weeks each way. Autumn may begin as early as the middle of September—we once had a temperature as high as 90 on September 22—or it may delay its coming as late as the middle of October—we have had a temperature as high as 90 on October 17. On the other hand, autumn blends into winter, but as we must consider December a winter month, we are compelled to confine our autumn to two months—October and November.

The average temperature for October 1 is 78 degrees, which means an average maximum of 90 and average minimum of 70. The daytime temperatures continue rather high for a while, falling slowly as the season advances, but the night temperatures fall more rapidly, so that the cooler nights are noticeable earlier than the cooler days. From the first of October to the end of November, the maximum temperature curve drops at the rate of about one degree and one-half a week, while the minimum temperature curve drops at the rate of two degrees a week. On October 15, the normal maximum is 82, and the normal minimum is 66. On November 1, the normal maximum is 79 and the minimum is 62. November 15, 76 maximum and 58 minimum. November 20, maximum is 71 and minimum is 54.

Thus, during the autumnal months, there is a considerable drop in the maximum or daytime temperatures, but still a greater drop in the minimum or night temperatures.

There have been two occurrences of light frost in October, but the lowest temperature for that month was 43 degrees on October 30, 1910. The highest ever recorded was 93 on October 2, 1919. During the month of November there have been light frosts several times and also occasionally a heavy frost. There is one record of a killing frost, when on November 28, 1903, the temperature fell a few tenths below the freezing point. This is the only time that a temperature below 32 registered in Tampa before December 1.

Rainy Season Near End

The cessation of summer showers marks the beginning of the autumn season more sharply than does the drop in temperature. The average date is about September 30, but sometimes the showers end as early as the middle of September, and sometimes they continue to the middle of October. The latest recorded ending of the rainy season was October 18, 1910. September has a normal rainfall of 7.41 inches, with a probability of rain one day out of every two, but October's normal rainfall is less than half that amount, or 2.97, with the probability of rain one day out of every four, or 25 per cent. November is still drier with a normal rainfall of 2.92 and a rainfall of 0.01 with a probability only of rain one day out of every six or 17 per cent. April and November are the two driest months of the year in Tampa.

Looking at the rainfall data for the two months taken together, we find that a measurable amount of rain may be expected on 13 days out of the 61, or 21 per cent. In June, July, August and September, by far the greater part of the rain falls in the afternoon, but during October and November, there is almost as much rain at night as during the day, and this makes the rainfall seem to be less than it actually is.

Wide variations are found in different years, for the driest autumn, that of 1901, had a total rainfall of only 0.84 inches, while the wettest, that of 1921, had 11.46 inches or nearly 14 times as much. Of this 11.46, however, 8.13 fell in 48 consecutive hours, and 6.48 in 24 hours. Autumn does not bring to us the "melancholy days" of which the poet sings. Sunshine is abundant, the average being 64 per cent of the total possible for October, and 63 per cent being for November. Classifying the days as clear, partly cloudy and cloudy, we find out of the total of 61 days, 25 will be clear, 22 partly cloudy. A cloudy day means simply that the average amount of clouds is eight-tenths or more. As a matter of fact there may be a considerable amount of sunshine on a cloudy day and a completely overcast day, that is a day without any sunshine at all, happens during the two autumn months just about once.

Wind Velocity Low

Not are the "wailing winds" characteristic of autumn days in Florida. The average wind velocity for the two months is seven miles per hour. Occasionally a tropical storm comes near enough to cause some rough weather, but Tampa has very rarely suffered any damage. In the past 30 years, during the two autumn months, the wind has reached a velocity of 25 miles per hour or more only 30 times, an average of less than once a month, while velocity of 40 miles or over has been attained only five times. The highest velocity ever recorded was 68 miles per hour on Oct. 25, 1921, during Tampa's only real storm.

Although the summer showers induce luxuriant growth of many kinds of vegetation, summer is not the season for the development of the great staple crops. Some truck is grown throughout the year and okra, cowpeas, and a few other things do well, but the sudden alternations of hot sunshine and heavy rains are unfavorable to the growth of most crops, or the moisture, so liberally supplied, is drawn out of the foliage too fast, and withering results. Some vegetables are grown for local markets under partial shade, but this is not practicable on a large scale. The citrus fruits attain size and development during the sur-

Biggest Winter Season in Florida's History Seen By Big Business Men

That Florida is now facing the most successful winter in her climb to ascendancy in the consensus of opinion among Southern bankers and hotel men as expressed recently by leaders in both lines.

An extended tour through the North, East and mid-West, according to H. W. Guile, president of the Collateral Bond and Mortgage Company of St. Petersburg and an officer of the Sessions Loan and Trust Company of Atlanta, has convinced him that the travel to Florida in the fall of 1926 will be heavier than in any year to date.

This tour, Mr. Guile said, revealed that the people north of Florida are beginning to realize that any real estate recession that may have come to the state is an asset rather than a liability to the tourist. They figure he said, that the smaller amount of Florida propaganda current this year will serve to reduce the crowds, and they realize that hotel construction has kept pace with the growth of tourist travel.

Unwitting Tramp

Taking the situation by and large, according to M. Guile, Florida has unwittingly played her hand better than she could have done by a contemplated policy. To have advertised as formerly would have meant a recurrence of the anti-Florida propaganda; the scarcity of hotel accommodations, the exaggeration of rates, and the general conditions of congestion playing the leading parts. As conditions are, Mr. Guile says, people all over the North, East and mid-West are preparing now to come to Florida next fall to enjoy the attractions that have brought them heretofore, confident that they will find ample room, reasonable rates, and the quiet they anticipate in vacation towns.

Measuring success by genuine and not paper profits, Mr. Guile and a leading Georgia banker, who refused to allow his name to be used in an interview, said the entire Southeast has passed the period of hectic gains and is now on the high road to immediate and permanent financial progress hitherto unknown in so-called fluctuating Southern areas.

Expect Big Winter

E. E. Robinson, president of the Southeastern Hotels Company, owner and operator of seven large hotels in seven important Southern cities, including the Aragon here, where headquarters for the chain is maintained, and the Ponce de Leon in Miami, said yesterday that he and his associates are preparing for one of the heaviest travel winters in their experience, after concluding a spring and early summer that compares favorably with the high mark of Southeastern travel.

Carling L. Dinkler, vice president and general manager of the Dinkler Hotels Company, operating in several southern cities and building the new Hotel Carling here, said his company expects the Carling and all other Jacksonville hotels to be filled throughout the coming winter and fall, even considering the enormous increase in rooms available to be shown this fall over all others. The Carling will open September 1, he said.

90 Per Cent Filled

Local hotels recently, on a casual check-up, registered 90 per cent filled, with incoming guests increasing daily and check-outs on the decrease. This condition led to the prediction in hotel quarters that the fall of 1926 will see an earlier Southward flow of tourists than has been the case except in the sustained 1925 summer-winter season. That the stable conditions recently established in the state will tend to lengthen the "season" and to swell the volume of tourist travel Southward was also the consensus of hotel opinion.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

RESPECT DEMANDED FOR PROHIBITION LAWS

A passionate plea for a united front by the women of the country in demanding a better respect for the prohibition law of the land and the enforcement was made before the forty-third annual convention of the Florida Woman's Christian Temperance Union here yesterday by Miss Minnie Neal, of Jacksonville, its president, in her annual message.

The message, which was the feature of the first day's business session of the union, drew repeated outcries of applause as the president answered vigorously the charges of those seeking to amend the law and cited facts to prove her statements.

Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, of Missouri, central figure in the recent Congressional hearing on the subject of amending the prohibition law, came under fire of the president, when she characterized him as a "seeker of notoriety at any cost, an anti on most every question," and that he was more "venomous than the paid attorneys in his attacks on the prohibition laws and his abominable treatment of witnesses favorable to present laws."

"Shall I be so blind, so prejudiced, so false to all my previous life and knowledge and desires as to give credence to all this mass of testimony from creditable and reputable witnesses who have no monetary reasons for misrepresentation, but rather risk loss in standing for the right?" said Miss Neal.

"Do we want things to be bad or do we want the good to prosper? We show which we desire by the things we listen to and mail over in our minds."

"How can we forget the character of these blatant deceivers of our law? How can we forget the conditions that prevailed when they were in control?"

"Surely we cannot forget that prohibition, even with the imperfect enforcement, has fed and clothed multitudes of poverty stricken women and mer, but seem to need the first touch of cooler weather to ripen, color and sweeten them.

Much work is done during September as far as the weather and soil conditions permit, in preparing fields and seed beds, and some crops are planted, but with October begins the big producing season of the Florida farmer. During the next eight months of intensive agriculture, one crop succeeds another, in a way that has given rise to the wonderful stories of what be done by energetic and intelligent farming, on a few acres of good Florida land, with the aid of Florida's wonderful climate.

Autumn Days Enjoyable
Autumn days are coming and they are of the brightest and most joyous. There will soon be a snap in the air, that will put new vigor into all of us—those who are coming home, tired out from vacations, as well as those who consider Florida summers quite good enough for them.

Summer may not go out with the same burst of glory of red, yellow and gold, which marks the change—the seasons in the north, for here the changes are more gradual and green continues to be the predominant color of the landscape. But we do have the green checked with red and yellow and the gold, as the maples, gums and persimmons gradually lose the call of the autumn season. Flowers we have always with us, one kind succeeding another in fields and gardens. Autumn is, however, another springtime, and marks an increase in blossoms. And the birds? We get fresh music from our northern visitors, but our own mocking birds still furnish the sweetest melodies. So let us welcome the autumn.

Announcement

Elsewhere in this paper announcement is made of the formal opening of the Palm Theatre, under new management, on Monday night, November 15, 1926. At that time some of the improvements contemplated by the management will be inaugurated.

In line with the policy of the management to give St. Cloud the best possible service, and the best possible pictures, the attraction for the opening night will be Carl Laemmle's Universal Super-Production, "The Midnight Sun," said to be one of the greatest of all the pictures produced in 1926. This picture will give an idea of the class of pictures the management hopes to present to discriminative St. Cloud people.

Among the attractions which have been purchased for early showing at the Palm Theatre are the new 1927 Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer "Parade of Hits;" Universal, and Producers Distributing Corporation pictures, besides a number of subjects from Associated Exhibitors, Pathe, F. B. O., and Fox.

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYHEW: The big sensation, "Mike," and the two super productions, "Bardley's the Magnificent" and "The Temptress;" Rudolph Valentino's sensational come-back "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse;" the big Rex Ingram Productions of Somerset Maugham's "The Magician," and Blanche Ingram's "Mars Next Door;" Emil Jannings in "Faust;" Lon Chaney in three pictures; Ramon Novarro in "Romance" and one other; Mae Murray in "Affairs of Desire" and "Show Business" and two others; Marion Davies in "The Red Mill," "Tillie the Toiler," and "Mary of Casar;" John Gilbert in "Twelve Miles Out;" Norma Shearer, Conrad Nagel, and Sally O'Neill in "The Waiting Sex;" and Norma Shearer in three others; Renee Adoree in "Blarney" and "Heaven on Earth;" Owen Moore, Bert Roach and Claire Windsor in "Tin Hats;" "A Little Journey" by Rachel Crothers; John Herron and Marceline Day in "The Boy Friend;" Conrad Nagel, Edith Roberts and George Fawcett in "There You Are;" "Women Love Diamonds;" Edmund Goulding's "Prince and the Pauper;" Low Cudy and Joan Crawford in "The Gray Hat;" "The Taxi Dancer;" "The Callahan and the Murphys;" "The Waltz Dream;" John M. Stahl's "The Gay Divorcer;" Elinor Glyn's "Love's Blindness" with Pauline Starke, Antonio Moreno, Sam De Grasse, and Lilyan Tashman; James Oliver Curwood's "The Plucking Forest;" Peter B. Kyne's "The Understanding Heart," and three "Westerus" by the same author; "Captain Salvation" and others.

Universal Jewels: Dustin Farnum and Beat Gibson in "The Plucking Frontier," based upon the Custer Massacre; Laura Lapland in "The Midnight Sun," "Police Force," "Her Big Night," "Butterflies in the Rain," and "The Love Thrill;" House Peters in James Oliver Curwood's "Prisoners of the Storm;" Reginald Denry in "Take It from Me," from the popular musical success of the same name; Gertrude Atherton's "Porch of the Devil," with Mae Busch and Pat O'Malley; Marion Nixon in "Spangles," the great circus picture; Norman Kerry in "Too Many Women;" George Weston's big Saturday Evening Post story "Taxi, Taxi;" Marie Kennedy, Crighton Hale, and Little Billy, the first pocket comedian, in "Oh, Baby;" "Beware of Widows;" "Down the Stretch;" "Outside the Law;" Richard Talmadge in six action pictures; a fine bunch of "Westerus" with Beat Gibson, Jack Hoxie, Fred Himes, and Art Acord; and others.

Producers Distributing Corporation: "The Volcan Boatman," with Wm. Boyd, Julia Faye, Elinor Fair, Robert Edison, and Theodore Kosloff; "Whispering Smith," with H. B. Warner and Lillian Rich; "The Unknown Soldier;" "Leatrice Joy in 'Vanity';" Ralph Ince, Claire Adams, and Sally Edwards in "The Sea Wolf;" Vera Reynolds in "Hunny Side-Up," and "Corporal Kate;" "The Prince of Posen;" "Braveheart;" "Gipsy," with Red La Rue, Johnny Babson, and Louise Dresser; "Young April" with Joseph Schildkraut and Beadie Rose; "Rubber Tires," turned the Covered Wagon of the Automobile; "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," with May Robson, Harrison Ford, John Bowers, and Marguerite de la Motte; "No Control," Frank Condon's Saturday Evening Post story, with Phyllis Haver and Harrison Ford; "Milk," from Samuel Morrell's oriental story, with Jetta Gaudal and Joseph Schildkraut; "The Country Doctor," with Rudolph Schildkraut and Julia Faye; Maria Prevost in "Getting Gertie's Garters," and others.

From this array of attractions which have already been booked for the Palm Theatre it is obvious that St. Cloud will have the best in pictures. But the pictures themselves are not the only important factors in giving the theatre going public what it wants. The method of screening them is as important as having the pictures to screen. Here again the new management of the Palm Theatre has an important announcement to make.

Two of the latest type Powers projectors are being installed, and will be used for the first time on the opening night next Monday, which will insure clear projection and a continuous picture. This will eliminate the waits between reels and add a hundred per cent enjoyment to the picture.

Another important feature which we shall be able to present to St. Cloud picture fans will be the screening of local scenes from time to time. We shall, for instance, on next Monday night, show pictures of the St. Cloud-Kissimmee football game taken today. We are equipped in our laboratories, to turn out motion pictures for showing on the screen "the same day it happens."

In order that the people of St. Cloud may know whom we are, and what we are doing, let us here state a few facts about ourselves.

Lago Vista Enterprises, Inc., is incorporated under the laws of Florida, with a capitalization of $25,000. Most of the stock is held by people in Kissimmee, St. Cloud, and Orlando. We have no connection with any of the "fly by night" concerns which have from time to time made periodic appearances in Florida. We should not be confused with the usual "moving picture proposition." Our business, aside from the theatre we operate at this stage of our development, is confined to production of commercial and industrial films, laboratory work, and current news events, for which definite orders have been received before production is undertaken. Our preliminary work during the last nine months has definitely demonstrated that there is an excellent field for honest and properly conducted production along these lines.

We have, we believe, the best, if not the only fully equipped producing motion picture laboratories in Florida. We are equipped to do everything from "shooting" the picture to throwing it on the screen. How many cities, regardless of size, are able to show pictures in their theatres "the same day it happens" We have done it several times in Kissimmee, and we shall do it in St. Cloud.

We were made Official Cinematographers to the American Legion, Department of Florida, at the Sanford convention last summer. We are doing the official motion picture work for both the Orlando and the Orange County Chamber of Commerce. Four of our films are now on tour throughout Florida and one of them has been in such demand that rights have been sold for the Southern States, Canada, California, Illinois, Texas and Pennsylvania. One of the great international motion picture weeklies wired us to make pictures for its news reel at the time of the hurricane, and our camera man was the first one on the job at Moore Haven.

The directorate of Lago Vista Enterprises, Inc., is Allison T. French, president; Francis J. Igou, vice-president; and LaRoy H. Zehrbach, secretary and treasurer. Mr. Zehrbach has had ten years experience in motion picture production, distribution, and exhibiting. Beginning as an operator in a theatre he has continued in all branches of the business. He has made motion pictures from Oklahoma to Massachusetts and from Michigan to Florida. In college he specialized in chemistry. He has been laboratory superintendent for Harsco Motion Picture Industries, laboratory and camera man for Cosmopolitan Productions, and for the Hamilton-Beach Film Company. He is now, and has been for six years, representative of International News Reel of New York City. Mr. W. E. Zehrbach, our Laboratory Superintendent, has had eight years similar experience, from California to the Atlantic. We therefore have two excellent camera men and laboratory men, and we have others in line when we need them. Judging from present indications that time will not be far off.

Thousands of dollars worth of motion picture film work is being sent out of Florida to New York, New Orleans, and Atlanta laboratories. This work should be kept in Florida and done in Florida. We believe we shall be able to do most of it. From what we have done, and the work already in sight we expect to do enough business the first year to pay from 25 per cent to 100 per cent on the entire capitalization. The experimental days are over. We have equipped our laboratories and have an actual producing business now.

St. Cloud people have already asked us about becoming participants in the business. We have very little stock left for sale. We have decided, however, to offer a limited amount to St. Cloud people who want to have an interest in their theatre and to share in this new Osceola county industry. Because we should rather have a large number of stock holders, thereby having a large number of people "boosting" for our enterprises, we changed our original incorporation plans and made the par value of the stock $10 per share instead of $100.

In order that stockholders may have some immediate advantages we have decided to give, with the first 100 shares sold, what might be termed an advance premium of 25 per cent in theatre tickets, good at either the Palm Theatre in St. Cloud, or the Bon Air Theatre in Kissimmee. This will not apply to more than ten shares to any one person.

In conclusion let us remind you again of our opening night at the Palm Theatre next to Monday, with the wonderful picture "The Midnight Sun," and the St. Cloud football team.
